Stage Play – Michel Strogoff

Type: Stage play in 5 acts and 16 pictures by Jules Verne and Adolphe d'Ennery;

Series: Nil

First Presentation: At Théâtre du Châtelet, Paris, on November 17, 1880

Original Publication: Adolphe d'Ennery and Jules Verne : Michel Strogoff, Revue théâtrale illustrée, Paris (1880), 30 p.

First English Translation: --

Number of Illustrations: The play was edited in 1881 together with two other plays of Jules Verne in a book titled Voyages au Théâtre (Voyages into the theatre) by the publisher J. Hetzel, including 24 illustrations.

The newspapers and magazines of the time reported of the stage plays and also published illustrations showing scenes from the plays. The quantity of papers and so the number of illustrations is not known. In this collection you can see:

4 illustrations published by Le Monde Illustré No. 1235 from November 27, 1880, completed with two scans of the newspapers text about the play.

1 full-page illustration published by Le Journal Illustré from November 28, 1880, plus the article

5) Other specifics:

The illustrations No. 011, 016 and 020 were printed – enlarged and coloured as chromotypographies – in the late editions of the novel of the same title

The illustration No. 003 is a detail of an illustration of the novel (Picture No. 003)

The illustration No. 012 is a detail of an illustration of the novel (Picture No. 076)

The illustration No. 021 is a detail of an illustration of the novel (Picture No. 089)

The illustration No. 022 is a detail of an illustration of the novel (Picture No. 088)

The illustration No. 024 is a detail of an illustration of the novel (Picture No. 065)
Image No. 009 is taken from the novel Maroussia (chap. I), as well as No. 013 (Chap. XI), rewritten by P.-J. Hetzel and published under his pseudonym P.-J. Stahl. He used a translation from a novel written by Maria Alexandrowna Wilinska, indicated under the pseudonym Markowozkok.

The illustrations No. 019 is probably taken from other publications; remains to be verified
